Recommended instructions for using PEER-SPAN bedding pellets

Fresh bedding

Twelve bags of PEER-SPAN bedding pellets (rule of thumb = 1 bag per m² of stall) are sufficient for freshly bedding a standard stall (12m²). These should be evenly distributed in the stall.

A bedding depth between five and seven centimetres is sufficient to form a firm, elastic, absorbent and dust-free bed. Dampening the fresh bedding also enables the pellets to fluff up more quickly.

First week

In the first week, we recommend only mucking out the horse droppings with a pitchfork, leave moistened spots (urine) in the stall and don't spread them.

Second week

From the second week onwards, soaked spots should also be removed and the bed should then be lightly raked and shaken out with a manure fork to aerate it. Depending on your horse's habits, you should add one to two bags of PEER-SPAN bedding pellets every week.

Less is more

It's important to sprinkle a few pellets once a week as described above, and to lightly but regularly rake and shake out the bed to aerate it. This will keep the bed fully functional for many months without having to clean out your stall completely. The originally golden-brown PEER-SPAN bedding pellets darken within one to one-and-a-half months, but this natural process doesn't affect their functionality (absorbing moisture, ammonia, odours).
